

New Year Message

Dear colleagues,

With the advent of the New Year, I would like to extend my heartfelt greetings for the season. I would also like to convey my appreciation to each one of you for your hard work and achievements in the last one year. 2014 has been a great year for the Department of Posts.

We have networked more than 26,552 Post Offices, Mail Offices and Administrative Offices, and set up the single largest WAN in the country. We have also rolled-out CBS in 1436 Post Offices, completed the Disaster Recovery Centre at Mysore, and signed the contract for supply and maintenance of mobile devices, with connectivity, in the Branch Post Offices. This would not have been possible but for your support and dedication, and the extra hours that you put in to achieve these milestones.

The coming year will see considerable progress on various fronts, including completion of some major components of the IT Modernization Project. Together we shall strive to complete CBS and Core PLI roll-out in our Departmental Post Offices, commission the Mobile devices in Branch Post Offices, and migrate to the integrated new software platforms for Post Offices, Mail Offices, Postal Accounts Offices, and Administrative Offices, and for the branch Post Offices. 2015 is, therefore, going to be a watershed year for the Department of Posts, as we step up our capabilities to handle emerging market needs and new business opportunities. The focus must remain on our customer, and on achieving and exceeding our revenue targets. I have no doubt that, with your commitment and determination, we shall achieve success in all our endeavors to improve service delivery and build a brighter future.

I thank you once again for your support and commitment, and wish you and your families a very happy New Year.
